Hi Gregory,

Chris Graham from New Matilda magazine (formerly National Indigenous Times). I'm keen to interview you about your hunger strike. Obviously, I'm highly suspicious about your motives, and based on your past history I can't take at face value that you're simply participating as a climate activist. Specifically, one of the imputations in the story I'm writing is that you're either running interference again for the Coalition, or your involved with one of the security agencies and are trying to infiltrate the more radical elements of the environmental movement.

Whatever the case, I'm wondering if there's a good time to chat?

Cheers, Chris

Kind regards

Chris Graham
